NUMBER 7

Potomac Valley Skiers, Inc.
WASHINGTON MARYLAND VIRGINIA

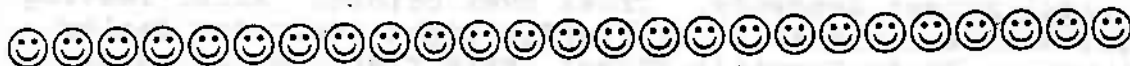

JULY 1996

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Well it is already the summer break, and of course there are not any general membership meetings for July and August. But fortunately for PVS'ers the club has a lot of dry land activities included during the summer time; just check the schedule of events on the back page of this Toot. Please note that the second annual PVS Golf Tournament is scheduled for August 26, 1996, Burr Schuler and Myron Marquardt promise a real swinging time and any handicap will qualify you to play!

Even though it is summer, don't forget to review all the ski trips for next year and sign up now as I understand some of the trips are starting to fill up already. I want to wish everyone a very eventful, fun filled, and safe summer vacation. I look forward to seeing many of you at some of the dry land activities during the next few months.

President, Serge Triau

CATOCTIN HIKE, etc., etc., etc.

The 20-something PVSers who showed up for this event enjoyed a very full day. The weather was hot and steamy, but this hardy crew was undeterred. The long-hikers were led by Jackie Wilson and Mary Riley. Appointed sweep was Jack Ragen and no one could figure out how he ended up at the head of the group. Those seeking a shorter hike followed Lu Beale to Cunningham Falls and then over a ridge to a delightful looking lake full of cool swimmers. Some were tempted to at least go wading, but the law appeared and arrested Josie II, our lead dog, ordering her back to the national park. On return to the Visitor's Center, it appeared that the long and short efforts were quite similar.

On to the Blue Ridge Brewery, where the owner/founder delighted us with his colorful tale of their history---and especially with the welcome COOL beer. On to Tauraso's for dinner on the patio, where Susan and Bill Brown had cleverly arranged for the group to sit under umbrellas on the shady side.

Thanks to Irene Farrell for arranging this fun combination.

MEETING UNDER THE STARS -- by Bill Anderson

As the old Southern expression goes, y'all come, and boy did they ever. Over 60 members and friends gathered at the Great Falls home of Betty Lawrence for the June meeting. It was the perfect setting for this very large indoor-outdoor party meeting. Many guests sat on the decks to enjoy the gardens and pool area. Just as many were around the pool watching Betty demonstrate her new toy: a fountain in the center of the pool.

Aina Thomas spent most of the evening in the kitchen cutting up pizzas. Elke Stecher, with husband/Charter Member, Dr. Bill, visiting from Germany, was also a big help in the kitchen. It was a bit difficult to shake her hand as she was wearing oven mitts. Lots of long-time-no-sees were present such as Jamie and Shahradsad Miller, Dick Will, Mary Ward and Jim Slack, Charlotte Eddy, Sheldon Drews, long-time old/new member Huey Newton and new members Cathy and Don Dillon.

President Serge conducted the meeting not only under the stars but under the weather. Serge had a bad summer cold but the show went on. Glade Flake reported on the trips and each trip leader gave a status report. Ray McKinley gave a run-down of all activities with his left hand. Yes, he had another jogging trip-up and broke his arm. Ned Flaherty suggested that Ray be appointed Trip Coordinator because of his experience!

Anyway, Betty, a wonderful meeting. Thanks again.

BIKING THE ROCK CREEK TRAIL -- by Myron Marquardt

On June 20 at 10:30, nine bikers from PVS and four from the Potomac Peddlers Touring Club met at Candy Cane City ready for a ride north along Rock Creek Trail. It was a bit warm, but the trail was almost entirely under tall shade trees. There had been rain the night before, which left some water and mud on the trail. One rider slipped on the mud while rounding a corner. A bit of mud on his shirt and pants did not deter us from continuing. We all went home with a stripe of mud on our backs. Bicycles don't have fenders like they used to.

Upon reaching our destination, a small park with a greatly appreciated water fountain, we rested a short time and then headed back for lunch at the Kensington Tea Room. It was a bit crowded, but everyone managed to find a seat at a table for a good lunch. Iced tea seemed to be a big favorite.

The tea room is across the street from the train station. Just as we were preparing to leave, so was a train. The locomotive operator waved at us and honked a couple of times, as if to say, "Next time take the train." As hot as it was, maybe that would be a good idea.

Our thanks to our trip leaders, and we are sure the next ride will be as good as this one was.

In Memorium -

We learned with sorrow that Tony Drago's beloved companion, Margaret Campbell, departed this world on June 3, 1996 after a losing bout with cancer. For the past eight years, Margaret and Tony were among the more active skiers we know. Typically, they were on the slopes for 15 - 20 days a season with various ski clubs or else on their own. Although suffering from several health problems, Margaret remained active until her mercifully brief final days in Hospice. For the past three seasons she and Tony were part of the PVS skiing community; we last enjoyed their company on the Sun Valley trip last February. Margaret leaves behind a grown son and daughter, plus seven brothers and sisters and two grandchildren. We will miss Margaret's always-present enthusiasm and good humor.

August 14-25, 1997 Join Nancy & Ray McKinley in South America When We

Ski Valle Nevado, Chile

This pristine resort offers more than 22,000 acres (34 square miles) of skiing in the midst of the majestic Andes Mountains. If that isn't enough, Valle Nevado has now been lift linked to two other valleys, La Parva and El Colorado, providing the largest ski circuit in the entire Southern Hemisphere. On this 11 day trip (shorter and longer stays are possible), we plan to ski for a week and spend three additional days in lovely, peaceful Santiago, the classical styled capital of Chile and perhaps do some touring nearby. It should provide a spectacular introduction to a dramatic new Hemisphere.

If there is sufficient interest, we will visit Chile this September to set up the trip. We expect the cost to be around $2,400—including meals at Valle Nevado. If interested, and you want to assure a spot, send your check for $100 (completely refundable through February 1997) to the McKinleys, 2326 North Upton Street, Arlington, Virginia, 22207-4045. Please make your check payable to Nancy McKinley.

THE KNEE

by

Ray McKinley

"Knee high by the Fourth of July." It refers to the height of the corn in Iowa. This Knee will try to keep the tradition. A-maizing.

Marilyn Clark, on any given day would prefer to be "filthy rich" to "dirt poor." Not the Knee--I want to be clean rich.

On observing some gnarled Bonsai, Bill Anderson explained their state, "when young they were fed cigarettes and whiskey."

To get to the ExCom meeting at the Huggins there were instructions from Virginia, Maryland, and Pres. Triau's house. Once there, via Serge's of course, we were served super edibles and a 1966 red wine. Few wined.

This ExCom is the quietest in memory. They vote by raising their hands. Right up.

Did you see Dina Taylor's preliminary trip flyer last month? Due to a typo, it offered skiing in "Butt milk." Dina wondered if her mistake was um--asinine.

Recovering "just fine thank you" from cataract surgery is Knox Felker. Eye see.

The Knee has done it again. Whilst jogging in California, I fell and again broke both forearm bones, but this time in my right arm. Full recovery is expected well prior to ski time. And Nancy burned my jogging shorts; no more jogging--ever!

After the latest injury, Knox Felker asked if the Knee was still under warrantknee.

Just to show that this column isn't all skiing, a local pet shop has a goldfish of the day special. Perhaps they call it carpe diem.

The Knee has been skiing since 1967--some 29 years. In PVS that makes me a novice. Nat Seeman has over 40 years. Malda Elrod 51 years, hubby Roy has been skiing 59 years. Edith Rabinowitz started skiing at age 5 in Czechoslovakia but had a 30 year hiatus. Edith remembers first skiing with boards strapped to her shoes. I'm certain they were parabolic-shaped boards! Have you been skiing 50 or more years? Please tell the Knee.

Here are PVS' longest term skiers. In the men's division Glade Flake has been skiing 60 years. He started at age 12 in Australia. And in the women's division the winner is Aina Thomas who started skiing at age 5. So she's been skiing 27 years.

Received a nice letter from Nancy Lewis who is busy being a caregiver for Joe. She nonetheless managed to ski with Gladie Youngblood, Huey Roberts and Dick Comerford last year. Nancy loves Colorado Springs and its cool, dry summers. She hopes to get into cyberspace this summer.

During our yucky, hot summers, Jackie Wilson loves planning ski trips. Cool.

New members, Brock and Lorraine Brockmeyer found out about PVS when they met the Flakes on a bus returning from Banff. The Brockmeyers are just back from their daughter's college graduation in Boulder, CO. And that also stands for cool!

The country's fastest growing sport isn't snowboarding. It's in-line skating--up 500% in the last 5 years. But they began with only two skaters.

The PVS point of contact for the Catocin hike was Jessma Blockwick. No one called her, but 20 people did the hike.

Dick Comerford was deciding whether to take the long or short hike. He asked "Do I get more beer if I take the longer hike?" When assured the answer was yes, he did.

Immediately before skiing in Utah last winter, Malda Elrod won a golf tournament in El Paso. Right on, but a lot of luggage!

Daughter-in-law Jennifer recently visited Fumiko and Myron Marquardt with the grandtwins. Right on. Right on.

A final (?) bit of last season. Kirk Burns skied Vail the last week in April. It snowed 5 of the 7 days! White on.

Finally, Charles Huggins reports that 7 PVSers went on all 3 sanctioned trips last winter--Jessma Blockwick, the Flahertys, John Mathews, Dot Mills, Aina Thomas and Bette Walker. Right, right, right on.
